

Welcome to this lesson on Medical Ethics. I'm Justin and this is my colleague Missah. We will be your hosts.

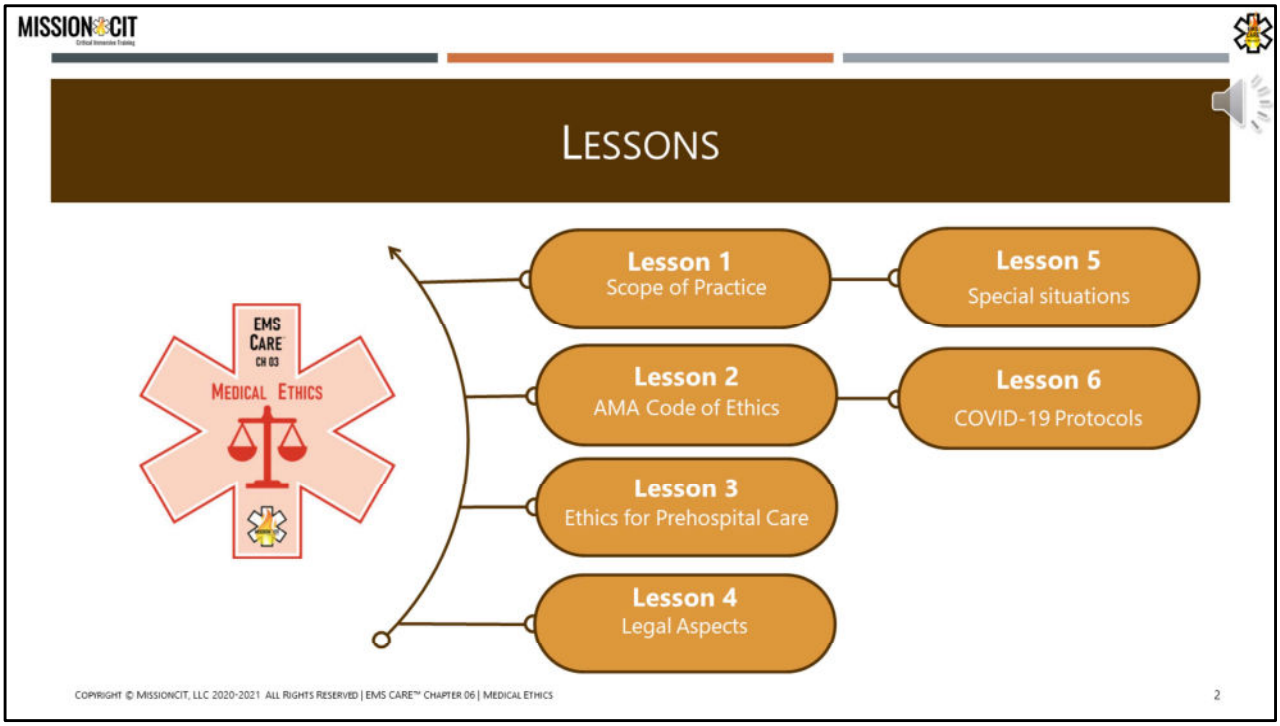

In this lesson, we will be talking about your legal responsibilities and ethical behavior towards your patients. Some of the aspects we cover include expressed and implied consent, assault, battery, advance directives, and refusal of patient care.

We hope this would help you to better understand your role in the large legal and ethical framework of society.

We wil now have a look at the lessons to be covered in this chapter. Good studying.
